Permanent Injunction Issued in Case

At 16.15 o'clock Tuesday the superfor court came in with Judge Silas A. Rob-ason on the bench.

The matter of a permanent injunc-tion in the Brooklyn case of Clark G. Lawton vs. Frank A. Herrick was first ilscussed. Following arguments by the Lawton vs. Frank A. Herrick was first discussed. Following arguments by the attorneys, the court issued a permanent injuncation to restrain Herrick from throwing refuse in the stream leading to the plaintiffs' mill pond. A penalty of $1,000 will be exacted if the injunction is violated. Judgment for the plaintiff was found by a jury last week and damages of $200 ordered.

Complaint alleges that Mr. Chesbro gave plaintiff a note for $700 dated July 25, 1998, due in one year. The second count alleges that Mr. Chesbro lad paid $200 on the note. Third count alleges that in January, 1908, Mr. Chesbro obtained the note on the pretext of wishing to examine it, and that he them burned and destroyed the note.

Defendant's answer admitted that he gave the note for $700, but denies that he had paid $200 on same, and also denied that he had burned the note and set up a new claim to the effect that Mr. Peck, the plaintiff, burned the note himself, and thus cancelled the obligation. Plaintiff denied defendant's answer.

Joseph Peck, the first witness, stated that Mr. Chesbro gave him the note for $700 as alleged in the complaint. He further testified that some time in January Mr. Chesbro sem for him and told him that he had a recent trouble and that he wish to clean up all of his personal debts, and that he did not care to have it become known that he had given him a note and he asked him how much he would allow him if he paid it. Witness testified that he told him that he would allow him a consideration of he paid it then. There was some further conversation, and then Mr. Chesbro requested witness to go into the woodshed and then asked him to let him see the note, and he passed it over to him, and Mr. Chesbro them touched a match to it, saying that in case of his death no one would know about it and that he would pay it when it became due.

Told of Burning of Note.

Witness claimed great surprise and said that he went to Lawyer Chesbro, a brother of the defendant, and told him about the burning of the note, and then went to Attorney G. E. Hilman, who advised him to do nothing unfil the time the note became due.

The attorney's advice was followed and on July 25, 1909, he went to Mr. Chesbro to collect the note, then due, and he was told if he would produce the note he would pay it.

Received Check for $200. In February he went to New York and needed monty, and acked his father to go to Mr. Chesbro and ask him to pay $300 on the note, and a short time after he received a check for $23) that his father sent him that came Mr. Chesbro to apply on ac-

Was Told There Was No Note. Was Told There Was No Note.

La Feiner testified to having seen the note and that Mr. Pepk had asked him to keep the note and other papers in his safe. This was in August, 1998, and he did so until December, 1998. He said that on Feb. 18, 1909, Joseph Peck's father had shown him a letter and a telegram from the son requesting him to see Mr. Chesbro and get a payment on the note and he had gone with the older Mr. Peck and saw Mr. Chesbro give him a check for $200. Chesbro give him a check for $200. Saw Mr. Chesbro in June and had asked him why he did not pay Mr. Peck what he owed him and he said that there was no note in existence.

A Request for $300-Aaron Peck testified in the after-tion that he had received the letter rom his son Joseph as stated by pre-tions witness and had taken it to him o read. They went to Mr. Chesbro's ogether, Felner having told him that letter was a request for $300 on Chesbro note. Mr. Chesbro said could only raise $200 and gave wit-

SCHOOL ENUMERATION Shows Decrease of Four Since 1908-Total 2,610.

The enumeration of children of school age in the town of Windham has been completed and is in the hands of the secretary of the school board, Mrs. Herbert J. Spaulding. Eugene J. Randall canvassed the First district, Thomas F. Connelly the Second, and Harold S. Maine the outlying ond, and Harold S. Maine the outlying country districts.

In the First district there were found $41 children of school age, a gain of $6 ever 1908. In the Second district, 1,514 was the number against 1,484 in 1908, a gain of $0. There was a decrease in the country districts, the enumerator locating but 255 against 293 in 1908, a loss of 48. This shows a decrease of four from last year's figures. Following is a comparison by districts.

First district Second district North Windham Jerusaiem

This is the first decrease in the enumeration figures in the town of Windham since 1902, the total number that year being 1,928, these figures being a drop of 217 from 1901.

Based on figures used by the government census department, multiplied by 4.52, the town's population has shown an increase since 1900. The plied by 4.52, the town's population has shown an increase since 1900. The city population is estimated at 10,645, and the entire town 11,798, which makes it appear that by next spring when the national census is taken up, Windham will show a gain of about 11 per cent. over the census of 1900.

For Benefit of Y. M. C. A .- Evening of Diversion Provided for Large . Audi-

That sensational court cases involving marital affairs in dispute are no less interesting in Danielson than in other places was demonstrated on Tuesday evening when the breach of promise case against William H. Barron was tried out before a big audience in the town hall. The court was invested with all the dignity of like tribunals of justice but there was one big difof justice, but there was one big dif-ference in the seriousness of the situation—the charge was in jest.

This was a mock trial and was given for the benefit of Danlelson's Y. M. C. A. It made a very good entertainment and served not only to secure a good sum for a deserving institution, but also to supply an evening of pleasure for the many who attended. Col. A. V. Newton of Worcester, originator of the trial, conducted the entertainment.

Walter M. Sherman, 26 years old, son of Palmer C. Sherman, proprietor of the Massachusetts Rating and Collecting agency, Stater building, dropped dead in a toilet room of the Hotel Carlyle, 174 Pleasant street, at 10.50 o'clock Monday night.
Sherman, who was a big fellow, having the appearance of perfect health, and who is said never to have had a day of serious sickness, had just returned from a theatrical performance, told his friends about the play, and was about to retire. He stepped into a tollet room leading from the hotel office, told a companion "Walt a minute, I'll be with you when I wash my hands," and a second after he was heard to fall to the floor.

Ben, J. Stiteler, a guest at the hotel, passed Sherman as he went in. He heard the fall, returned to the toiled room and found young Sherman on the floor unconscious and showing no signs of life. The young man's fa-ther, who also lives in the Carlyle, was called from his room, while George called from his room, while George Reed, the hotel night clerk, went hunt

Reed, the hotel night cierk, went hunting for a physician.

Drs. Edwin A. Leavitt and Ralph C. Fish were at the hotel inside of five minutes, but life was gone. Medical Examiner Dr. Frederick H. Baker was summoned and said death was probably due to heart disease.

Dr. Baker gave permission for the body to be turned over to an undertaker, and Darius A. Putnam was called. He arrived at the hotel at 2.15 o'clock and took charge of the body. Young Sherman arrived in Worcester from his native place, Danielson, Conn., about four years ago, and started right in making friends. At the time of his death he was said to be one of the most widely known young men in Worcester.
